Westwood, MA (BizHWY) August 17, 2009 - ValQuote.com Offers Online Business Valuations

If you've ever bought or sold a business you know what's involved in arriving at a fair and accurate price. For anyone considering such a transaction, you should know that current web technology now makes it possible to arrive at an extremely accurate price quickly and inexpensively.

In the "old " days, parties would be required to hire a consultant or business broker to grind numbers and arrive at an estimate of value. This was an expensive ordeal, often costing thousands or even tens of thousands of dollars, taking weeks to complete. Now, improvements in web technology have allowed programmers to capture the same formulas and logic used by high priced consultants and brokers and reduce them to an automated process which can be calculated very quickly.

The system relies on information provided by the user, so if you're willing to plug in a few numbers yourself, you can save a tremendous amount of money and eliminate the potential for human error. All you really need are accurate estimates for such things as sales and expenses, assets and liabilities. Most items can be readily found on a tax return or financial statement. (One user actually estimated his numbers from memory, but remember that the final value will only be as accurate as the numbers you supply.)

Typically, subscribing to this service will cost about $200.00. But right now you can buy a 60 day fully functioning trial of this outstanding valuation service for only $9.99. During your 60 day trial you will be able to calculate the value of up to 5 different businesses. It functions exactly like the full version with the exception of the 60 day limitation. You'll have access to the online help guide and your valuation will be emailed to you instantly.
